10.00 am - 4.00 pm

The Hill of The O'Neill, Ranfurly House,
26 Market Square,
Dungannon,
BT70 1AB

The North of Ireland Family History Society, in collaboration with Queen's University, invites you to explore your ancestors, family, and local history, to record and preserve their stories and memorabilia for the future. Bring your objects and artefacts (photographs, letters etc.) and share these with our experienced Researches,

This Digital Roadshow, which is being run by the North of Ireland Family History Society, as part of our 40th anniversary year of celebrations, is being facilitated by the Centre for Digital Data Analysis (CDDA) at Queen's University, Belfast.

The event is FREE, and refreshments will be provided.

Come along to this
ANTIQUES ROADSHOW
style event, where you will have the opportunity to share photographs, stories and objects associated with your family history. Each contributor on arrival will be greeted by a member of the Digital Scanning team, before being assigned to a researcher.

Experienced researchers from CDDA will be on hand to record your stories and scan your treasured items of memorabilia, photographs, letters and artefacts, related to your family history.

After the event you will receive digital images of the object via email or another agreed method.
